

"IT FEELS MORE LIKE HOME"

Orchard Friends School educates children with learning differences through a non-sectarian, research-based, multi-sensory program in a safe and nurturing environment. Our students' learning challenges are addressed through engaging, hands-on learning experiences across all disciplines in the curriculum. In this supportive setting, OFS students explore their potential, learn their strengths, and find their voice.

Orchard Friends School's small class size allows our highly motivated, special education certified staff to individualize each student's curricula. Our language-enriched academic and social program promotes self-knowledge, self-esteem, and the ability to self-advocate.

Students who would be well served at Orchard Friends School may experience difficulty with any combination of: expressive or receptive language, central auditory processing, communicating in social situations, dyslexia, anxiety, forming attachments, attention, or organizing thought processes.

"Orchard Friends School has made a huge impact on my child's life and our family's life. To know my child is being treated with respect and receiving the proper education is a huge relief for me as a parent, and to know my child has friends and is socially accepted and happy means the world to me!"
