

What ABA Can Do For You

- Autism is a developmental disability thought by scientists to have a genetic origin.
- A family that has a biologically related relative with an Autism Spectrum Disorder is much more likely to have a child with an Autism Spectrum Disorder than a family without this history.
- Autism Spectrum Disorders occur in approximately 1 in 88 children and 1 in 54 boys and is four times more likely in boys than girls.
- Autism Spectrum Disorder is the fastest-growing developmental disability in the United States.
- Cost of lifelong care can be reduced by 2/3 with early diagnosis and intervention.
- There is no medical detection or cure for Autism. Early intensive behavioral intervention has been shown to produce marked changes in the skill deficits and problem behavior associated with Autism.
